

Supplementary Figure S7: Comparison of the force fit during movement from physical dynamical systems of different orders. The simple first-order physical dynamical system was used to calculate impedance because higher-order models exhibited qualitatively similar fits to force during movement. Data are from subject 1 and the models were fit using the first 200 ms after movement onset.